

EUROPEAN UNION
POLICIES
AT A TIME OF CRISIS

EUROPEAN UNION POLICIES AT A TIME OF CRISIS

Edited by Tomasz Grzegorz Grosse

Scholar Publishing House
Warsaw 2017

Translated from Polish by: Lucjan Berezowski, Justyna Chada, Anna Gutowska, Katarzyna Kubacka, Dominika Pieczka, Olga Smoczyńska

Original edition: Polityki europejskie w dobie kryzysu, T.G. Grosse (ed.),
Wydawnictwo Naukowe Scholar 2016

Reviewers:

prof. zw. dr hab. Zbigniew Czachór
prof. zw. dr hab. Janusz Ruszkowski

Editor:

Michał Zgutka

Editing and proofreading:

James Richards

Cover and title page design:

Katarzyna Juras

Cover illustration:

Fotolia/Scanrail

Copyright © by Scholar Publishing House Ltd., Warsaw 2017

This publication forms a part of the scientific project “European policies in the period of transformation of the European integration model”. Project received funding from the National Science Centre, allocated on the basis of decision DEC-2012/07/B/HS5/03902.

This publication was also funded by the Faculty of Political Science and International Studies of the University of Warsaw.

ISBN 978-83-7383-826-0

Scholar Publishing House Ltd.
ul. Wiślana 8, 00-317 Warsaw
e-mail: info@scholar.com.pl
www.scholar.com.pl

First edition

Layout and typography: WN Scholar (Jerzy Łazarski)

Printed by: Totem, Inowrocław

Contents

Introduction. European Policies and Change in the EU Integration Model	9
Tomasz Grzegorz Grosse
Introduction	9
1. The growing importance of intergovernmentalism	10
2. What kind of an integration model emerged during the crisis?	17
3. Political segmentation in Europe	23
4. Main research questions and hypotheses	28
1. Systematisation of Concepts and Models Related to Differentiated Integration and Political Segmentation	33
Joanna Ziółkowska
Introduction	33
1.1. Differentiated integration and political segmentation	33
1.2. The beginnings of the debate on differentiated integration	36
1.3. The second wave of the debate	39
1.4. The debate in the 1990s	42
1.5. The differentiation debate following the Amsterdam Treaty	46
1.6. A classification of differentiated integration categories	50
1.7. A proposed classification	53
Conclusions	56
2. European Union Foreign Policy at a Time of EU Crisis and Fragmentation . .	59
Paweł J. Borkowski, Małgorzata Smutek
Introduction	59
2.1. The appeal of a Europe engulfed in crisis	62
2.2. Implementation of the Lisbon Treaty in times of crisis	69
2.3. EU international activities in a regional and problem-related approach, in the context of the crisis and the threat of fragmentation	75
Conclusions	82

3. The Impact of the Changing European Integration Model on the Common Security and Defence Policy	85
Jacek Czaputowicz
Introduction	85
3.1. The impact of the crisis on the CSDP	87
3.2. Positions of Member States with regard to the CSDP	90
3.3. Division lines in the CSDP	96
Conclusions	99
4. Economic and Financial Crisis in the European Union: The Definition of the Concept and Scholarly Discussion Over It	103
Artur Nowak-Far
Introduction	103
4.1. The economic and financial crisis in the Eurozone	104
4.1.1. The characteristics of the Eurozone Crisis	105
4.2. The Eurozone crisis as a crisis of the EU's economic governance system	113
Conclusions	123
5. Social Policy at a Time of Changes in the Model of European Integration	131
Jadwiga Nadolska, Krzysztof Szewior
Introduction	131
5.1. Social policy in the process of European integration	132
5.2. Social policy in times of crisis	135
5.3. The place of European social policy in the new architecture of economic governance in the EU	138
5.4. Forms of interference of EU bodies in Member States' social spheres, within the framework of the new economic governance	140
5.4.1. Assistance packages	140
5.4.2. The European Semester	146
5.5. European social policy: between supranationality and intergovernmentalism	150
5.6. Growth of asymmetry in the social sphere between North and South	152
Conclusions	153
6. Cohesion Policy During the Eurozone Crisis	157
Tomasz Grzegorz Grosse
Introduction	157
6.1. The influence of the crisis on the cohesion policy	159
6.2. Increased intergovernmental or community action?	163

6.3. Divisions and hierarchy between Member States	168
6.4. The dividing line in cohesion policy	170
Conclusions	176

7. The Common Agricultural Policy at a Time of Crisis 179

Justyna Miecznikowska

Introduction	179
7.1. Divisions within the Common Agricultural Policy: consequences of diversified agrarian structure and production potential.	181
7.2. Divisions in the Common Agricultural Policy: consequences of different direct payments schemes.	182
7.3. Negotiating the MFF: on financing the post-2013 CAP	185
7.4. Discussion on the post-2013 CAP: disputes and divisions within the EU	191
7.5. CAP reform and segmentation of the EU	194
Conclusions	200

8. Energy Policy and the Change in the Model of European Integration. 203

Kamila Pronińska

Introduction	203
8.1. Energy policy in the contemporary processes of European integration	204
8.2. Determinants of EU energy policy during the crisis in the Eurozone.	209
8.3. Intergovernmentalism vs. the community method in EU energy policy	213
8.4. EU energy policy – a mechanism to augment segmentation in the EU or an area in which these tendencies can be halted?	221
Conclusions: Energy policy at a time of crisis – divergent challenges and conflicting interests?	229

9. European Union Climate Policy – the Crisis as a Catalyst for Change 233

Krzysztof M. Książkowski

Research objectives	233
9.1. On the essence of climate change and EU climate policy	233
9.2. Conditions and division relating to climate policy costs.	236
9.3. Towards a new integration model in European Union climate policy	244
9.4. The Climate and Energy Package 2030 and the deepening of divisive tendencies	246
9.5. Segmentation in the EU climate policy	253
Conclusions	256

10. Intergovernmentalism vs. Supranationalism in the Migration Policy and Home Affairs of the European Union	259
Jolanta Szymańska
Introduction	259
10.1. The direction of “communitarisation”: a historical development of cooperation in the area of home affairs and justice.	261
10.2. Reversing the trend? The area of freedom, security and justice in the post-Lisbon period	263
10.3. A change in the political mood, and the unfavourable atmosphere surrounding migration	264
10.4. The first cracks – the “Arab Spring” crisis and the Schengen system reform	266
10.5. The migration crisis and the fight over the distribution of refugees in the European Union.	271
10.6. Freedom of movement – not under the same rules for everyone?	274
10.7. “De-Lisbonisation” of cooperation in the field of home affairs: the implementation of the Stockholm Programme and EU priorities in the area of freedom, security and justice for the years 2015–2019	276
Conclusions	278
 Summary. Towards Regional Disintegration Theory.	281
Tomasz Grzegorz Grosse
Introduction	281
1. Results of crises	284
2. Increased intergovernmentalism and the hierarchy of power	289
3. The ambiguous role of the Commission and the weakening of communitarianism.	292
4. Divisions in the EU	296
Conclusions: Towards a theory of regional disintegration	300
 Bibliography	307
 About the Authors	341
 Index of names	345